blobs world

These four walls are all that separate me from you. It is not that they are closing in on me, but that I am racing headlong into them.
I can't be connected to my body, my heart, my mind—apology, regret, and forgiveness fire than the tall trees of gray—fired clay that burn fur, too far ^{outward}, reaching breathless for the SUN, the ocean and only great love & war

I have the heat in the sky they come to us these shining days of the sun to believe that provides to anything

I want to write
the sea, the sun,
the wind a violent agent, p.
cars of the wind shaking

Behind the ^{surgeous} waves

IT IS ALL WATER

Hey, space
cadet!

You're gonna need a lot of love, but not the kind you're thinking of...

It's okay to want to dream, it doesn't mean reality is mean...

It's September 2021. You're sleeping on an unfamiliar bed. You're not quite sure if you'll actually like this place and you miss the ground you were standing on two days ago. Slowly, a tear falls from your eye.

It's January 2026. You're sleeping on an unfamiliar bed. You're not quite sure if you'll actually like this place and you miss the ground you were standing on two days ago. Slowly, a tear falls from your eye.

The ground you miss will always be there, behind the fog and the trees.

I don't have many photos of the nearby mountains. I captured the houses and fields more than anything — this photo being an example. However, I remember the sight of the mountains most vividly.

I have yet to take a photo of this place that does its beauty justice. But this one, with its rich greens and browns and deep shadows, makes me happier than most.
